

God's Animal Kingdom Classroom

Lessons in the Christian faith as taught by God's creatures both large and small.

Isaiah 43:20
“The wild animals
honor me”

Written by Carey Pomerantz

www.invisiblesundayschool.com

Scripture taken from the Holy Bible, New International Version ® Copyright © 1973, 1978, 1984 by International Bible Society. Used by permission of Zondervan Publishing House. All rights reserved. The NIV and New International Version trademarks are registered in the United States Patent and Trademark Office by International Bible Society. Use of either trademark requires the permission of International Bible Society. Pictures used came from copy rite free sources.

INTRODUCTION

The wonder of God's creation is all around us. If we take a few moments to ponder on what we see, we will be amazed at all God is showing us. We can learn much by observing the other members of creation and thinking about what God has given them. With a little imagination, we can apply what we see to our own lives.

God has put all of the earth's animals under our care. Just as the wise teacher learns from his pupils, we can learn from the creatures put in our care. By considering the special gifts God has given to animals, we can gain a new understanding of the awesome scope of God's love and wisdom and gain a new respect for all of life on earth. The common animal that we give little heed to is really quite a marvel to behold—if we take the trouble to see it for what it is.

In the "Invisible Sunday School" I wrote a series of stories involving animals mentioned in the Bible. I wanted to expand this concept to include all animals, not just those mentioned in the Bible since all are God's creation. This work seeks to include many of the animals left out of the previous work.